

U.S. Ready to Speed Removal of Red Missiles

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy was reported ready today to enter into special international inspection arrangements to clear ships through the U.S. naval blockade, and thus apparently speed removal of Soviet missiles from Cuba.

An agreement — which U.N. sources reported to be near — to have the International Red Cross inspect Cuba-bound ships could clear away a roadblock and hasten arrival of Soviet ships to pick up the missiles and haul them home.

Kennedy told the nation in a brief two-minute television and radio broadcast Friday night that aerial photographs made Thursday show that the Russians were tearing down their missile bases in Cuba.

But the President declared the tight U.S. sea and air surveillance of Cuba would be maintained until satisfactory international inspection procedures are substituted or until "the threat to peace posed by these offensive weapons is gone."

At the same time, he indicated the United States was ready to consider various means of inspection. This suggested a broadening, as to means, of the requirement he had laid down for U.N. inspection and verification.

"While the quarantine remains in effect," the President said, "we are hopeful that adequate procedures can be developed for international inspection of Cuba-bound cargoes. The International Committee of the Red Cross, in our view, would be an appropriate agent in this matter."

U.S. and Soviet officials were reported to be near an agreement at the United Nations on a plan to permit the International Red Cross to inspect Cuba-bound ships.

However, the President spoke of the need for international inspection in a broader context. He emphasized that the chief U.S. concern was verification of removal of all offensive weapons from Cuban territory.

The other major inspection problem, that of verifying the dismantling of bases and other Soviet offensive weapons in Cuba, is assumed here to be a major topic of the Havana discussions between Castro and Anastas I. Mikoyan, the Soviet Union's first deputy premier.

Mikoyan flew to Cuba Friday after meeting Thursday night with U.S. representatives in New York. According to information in Washington, Mikoyan did not spell out his precise mission to Castro in his New York discussions.

Before leaving for Havana, Mikoyan endorsed Castro's demand that the United States evacuate its Guantanamo Naval Base in Cuba.

The United States has brushed aside Castro's demands as irrelevant to the Kennedy-Khrushchev missile settlement. This U.S. view is understood to have been made clear to Mikoyan.

Hinton Home on the Patmos Road Was Begun 100 Years Ago of Log Construction

By MARY ANITA LASETER

What was begun over 100 years ago as a house for slaves on the Hinton property located on the Patmos Road, is today a lovely home in which Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hinton now live. Originally, the house was of log construction and had only two small rooms.

After their marriage in 1859 and the beginning of the Civil War in 1861, Carl Hinton's parents moved to the home. At least, his mother did and a 14-year-old Negro boy, who was her slave, moved in and stayed there for the duration of hostilities.

For the last two years of the war, his father was stationed at Washington, Ark. On weekends when his work was finished, he would ride home on his fast horse. He didn't know what kind of horse he had, but the present Mr. Hinton feels sure for a number of reasons that it was a Tennessee Walking Horse.

You are probably wondering if the Yankees ever got to the house. Yes, they did. And you know the only thing they confiscated was the vest the owner had worn in his wedding. The invading soldiers had good taste, for the beautiful waistcoat had come from London, England, and was truly a piece of clothing to be desired by any man of his day.

Was the lady of the house scared when the Yankees came? To be sure. But, then, Mrs. Hinton had been scared before, such as when a panther had walked onto her porch and had "camped" by the door all night. Needless to say, both the mistress of the house and her servant were up all night keeping the fire going with a hand on a gun and an eye on the door.

Though it began as a log cabin, today it is a rock home. One of the prettiest features of the five-room home is the fireplace in the living room. It measures six feet wide. The enlarged edition of the original building is certainly well-constructed. In the cyclone of 1893, some of the house was moved a little, while other parts of it remained completely intact.

There were only about 12 houses in the area, when this one was built. A sister of Mr. Hinton's went to the Female Academy at Spring Hill, Ark., the youngest of the family, went to Ouachita College, "after making a crop" he added.

The property was once only 164 acres, but when Carl Hinton moved back to this part of the country, he bought a larger tract, and it now encompasses 253 acres. Hinton lives in Denver, Colo., a number of years for his health, worked in Amarillo, Tex., several years as Chamber of Commerce manager, and was head of the War Food Administration in Arkansas from 1942 until the end of WW II.

From a hill of rock about 100 feet behind the house, a rock mason moved stones to protect the house from tornadoes. Similar stones are found at Lone Pine near Bodcaw. They are of commercial value, for several carloads weekly have been shipped from Lone Pine the last few years.

The Hinton home is pretty and interesting but after January 1, it will no longer belong to that family. To see it is to like and to appreciate it, and that explains why Mr. and Mrs. Dave Cummings and young son of Lubbock, Tex., fell in love with it recently.

"at first sight" and purchased it. Mrs. Cummings had always wanted a log house, and this was it. Logs still are exposed on outside walls and in the hall inside, but elsewhere inside the walls and ceilings are stucco.

It's a happy combination of a home of historical significance and modern convenience.

Friction Hurts Space Projects

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Space Committee says friction between the Army and Air Force partly explains why the nation has very little to show for the $170 million spent on the military's Advent communications project.

"If the Advent program is not a good example of interservice rivalry, it is certainly a poor example of effective interservice cooperation," the committee said in its report Wednesday.

Advent was conceived in 1958 as a worldwide jam-proof military communications system. As originally planned, Advent would have used a 1,000-pound satellite placed into a tricky orbit by the Centaur rocket—then on the drawing board. But, the report said, the satellite's weight grew to 1,300 pounds as it developed. The Centaur, far behind schedule, seemed less and less capable of handling such a payload.

Now, the idea is to develop a new 500-pound package for an interim system using an Atlas-Agena rocket.

"The original estimates of the total costs of the Advent research and development program reportedly were $140 million," the committee said. "By the time the project was canceled, well over $170 million had been spent, much of which has been written off as an unrecoverable loss."

Fire Destroys Hardin Store

RECTOR, Ark. (AP) — Fire destroyed the Hardin Hardware Warehouse in Rector Thursday night, causing an estimated $35,000 in damage and knocking out telephone service in the small northeast Arkansas town.

The warehouse was located about 15 feet from the telephone company office. The disruption of service was caused when fire burned through a telephone cable at the rear of the warehouse.

Telephone company officials said service to the city probably would not be fully restored until late today.

Firemen from Paragould and Piggott aided the Rector Fire Department in fighting the blaze. The cause of the fire was not determined.

The building contained old farming equipment. There was no equipment damage estimate available.

Says People Will Oust Khrushchev

MUNICH, Germany (AP)—Mao Tse-tung hopes the Soviet people will one day rise against Premier Khrushchev, says a former member of a Communist Chinese legation.

Chao Fu, 27, former security officer of the Red Chinese legation in Stockholm who fled to the West last August, said Mao hopes the Soviet people will recognize Khrushchev's anti-Stalinism as anti-Communist.

The Chinese leader said recently "whoever is against Stalin is against Mao," Fu reported.

Report Talks to Newsmen Is Ordered

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department—following the Pentagon's lead—has asked its officials to report any talks they have with newsmen.

The Defense Department issued a directive this week covering similar ground and set off a storm of criticism.

The State Department's move came to light Thursday after the Chicago Sun-Times reported the department—with President Kennedy's backing—was planning to place controls on its officials' dealings with reporters.

The Sun-Times said an official would have to report the name of the newsmen he talked with and the media he represented, when the interview took place, and the subject of the interview.

Asst. Secretary of State Robert Manning called it "a childish story, and erroneous."

He said "no new regulation" had been or is being issued. Manning, chief of public affairs, said he asked "that State Department officials who conduct interviews or discussions in the department with members of the press indicate through their own public affairs officers to the bureau of public affairs—after the fact the name of the correspondent, his newspaper or agency, the general subject discussed and the date."

Purpose of the request, he said, was to provide the public affairs bureau "with a rudimentary record of the department's relations with the press."

Manning denied any effort to inhibit the access of newsmen to official sources on foreign policy.

Khrushchev Agitated, Paper Says

NEW YORK (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev's unpublished letter of last Friday night to President Kennedy was "the product of a man in a high state of agitation, overweight by the prospect of atomic war," the New York Herald Tribune reported today.

A Washington dispatch by Rowland Evans Jr., said the Oct. 25 letter, "according to several officials here who have studied it, set a new high in emotional content."

"For that reason, it will not be published in the foreseeable future, if ever," the story said. It now bears a "Top Secret" label. As described by one well-informed source, it caused surprise here "bordering on disbelief." It revealed the Soviet leader in an unnatural fever of excitement and dismay over the prospect that President Kennedy's hard determination to dismantle the missile bases in Cuba might actually lead the world—and the U.S.S.R.—into nuclear war.

The story notes that the unpublished first letter to Kennedy never was released in Moscow. The second, imposing the condition that the Cuban missile bases would be dismantled if the U.S. withdrew missiles from Turkey, was immediately broadcast by Moscow Radio.

The first Khrushchev letter, the newspaper said, "was a high-pitched emotional appeal from a man who suddenly saw on the map perched on the lip of Armageddon, the precipice of atomic war and was quite frankly fearful of what might ensue."

"One of the basic reasons why the administration has no intention of publishing this first Khrushchev letter, in addition to the fact that it hasn't been released in Moscow, is concern that it might be used by the Communist right wing, the old hard-line Stalinists, against Mr. Khrushchev at this still dangerous time of tension."

"No one pretends to know the full story of Mr. Khrushchev's political strength in Russia today, but the circumstances of the first letter, followed so quickly by the demand for new conditions in the second, have led to a good deal of speculation."

"One explanation for the second Khrushchev letter—which was couched in far more conventional terms—is that the Soviet hierarchy decided Mr. Khrushchev offered too much in his first letter. Far better to make at least a try for a Cuba-Turkey deal and, if it were rejected, nothing would be lost."

"This, at least, is the way some officials fit the puzzle together. Their analysis would indicate that Mr. Khrushchev may have been acting without the full authority of the whole Soviet hierarchy when he wrote his first letter."

U.S. Weapons Are Sent to Indian Troops

By HENRY S. BRADSHAW

NEW DELHI (AP)—The first plane loads of American weapons for the hard-pressed Indian army arrived today and were rushed northward to troops bracing for a threatened new drive by Chinese Communist forces.

Two American C135 transports from Germany landed in Calcutta with automatic rifles, mortars, anti-personnel mines and other equipment to beef up outnumbered Indian forces facing the well equipped Communists. But U.S. Ambassador John K. Galbraith told Indians they should not hope for magic results.

A steady stream of the American jet transports, arriving at the rate of one every three hours, will continue the arms buildup. Heavier equipment, such as tanks, was expected by ship within a few weeks.

The U.S. weapons were headed to camps immediately behind the front lines on the northeast frontier, Indian officers said. Indian troops were driven back in this strategic area, above the thickly settled plains of Assam, in an initial Chinese onslaught that one Indian officer called a massacre.

Chinese forces have paused in their drive for several days, apparently waiting for reinforcements.

Additional military attaches arrived at the U.S. Embassy here, evidently to instruct Indians in the use of complicated equipment that was expected later.

In London, American and British officials conferred on coordinating arms shipments that up to now have gone separately. The talks also covered proposals to put all aid on a lend-lease basis.

Area Eligible for Peach Insurance

The Agriculture Department has just advised that the peach growers of Howard County and adjoining production areas in Pike, Hempstead and Sevier Counties are eligible for insurance under the Federal crop insurance corporation peach crop insurance plan. Application is to be made by not later than January 1, Congressman Owen Harris says.

4-H Club Winners Named

Jenny Lee Waters

Jenny Lee Waters, sweepstakes winner in the county 4-H dress revue, recipient of an award in the state contest, first place winner at the Four States Fair in the 4-H dress revue, has been chosen 1962 county champion girl for Hempstead county.

Jenny Lee joined the Triple "A" 4-H club when it was organized in 1961. This year she served as club reporter. She attended University 4-H Club Week and participated in the modeling activity.

Besides her clothing projects, Jenny Lee studies landscaping, home improvement, personality improvement, food preparation and preservation, and electricity. Mrs. Arnold Middlebrooks is adult leader for the Triple A Club. Robert Lee Cash, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Cash of Route 4, Hope, has been selected county champion 4-H Club boy for Hempstead county. He has been a 4-H member for 6 years.

Robert won the county talent contest in 1962. He has been a very active member of the Victory 4-H Club, where he served as club photographer. In early 1962 Robert was elected as vice president of the Hempstead County Junior Production Credit Association.

Jenny Lee will represent Hempstead county at the 4-H Club Congress in Little Rock November 2 and 3. She will be guest of the Arkansas State Chamber of Commerce. Robert is on vacation in some of the eastern states and could not attend the Congress.

More Fallout Buildings for the State

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Army Engineers said Thursday they had received permits to use an additional 35 buildings in the state as public fallout shelters.

The buildings have a combined capacity of 11,160 persons and bring to 200 the number of buildings authorized by owners for use as shelters. The buildings would accommodate 163,751 persons, but the state has a population of more than a million.

Surveys by the engineers turned up 678 buildings which meet shelter qualifications, but earlier this week the engineers reported that owners of 513 of the buildings had not signed permits.

State Civil Defense officials said Monday they thought the Cuban crisis would open the doors of additional buildings for use as shelters.

M. E. Crippen, chief of the engineers' fallout survey section at Little Rock, said Thursday developments in Cuba had been a factor in influencing building owners to grant permits.

In addition, he said, the engineers just recently completed sketches showing the specific areas that would be used for shelters in each building. Many of the building owners waited to see these before deciding whether to grant a permit, he said.

Springdale Grant Is Approved

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., said Thursday the Department of Health Education and Welfare had approved a $499,800 grant to aid Springdale, Ark., in constructing a $1,732,000 sewer treatment plant.

Fulbright also announced that flood control work on the Mississippi River and tributaries will be accelerated through money received by Army Engineers under the Public Works Acceleration Act.

The Department of Labor has approved a re-training program in Lincoln County to train 2 persons as weavers for wire looms and seamers.

Johnston, Pope, Franklin, Howard, Pike, Hempstead and Sevier counties have until Jan 1 to apply for peach crop insurance through the Department of Agriculture.

Methodists Have Guest Speaker

The Rev. Nobuo Kopyashi of Japan, one of ten outstanding Christians from nine countries selected to lead Mission in America, will be the guest speaker at the morning worship service to the First Methodist Church in Hope, Sunday, November 4.

Newspaper Struck But Not Out

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Daily News, announcing in a page one banner that it was "struck—not struck out," published a 16-page edition today at the plant of the Journal-American.

The paper had little advertising, but carried most of its daily features. Technically, it was a facsimile of the normal Daily News, except that the tabloid had 92 pages in its prestrike Thursday morning edition.

The maneuver of printing the paper at the Journal-American, the Hearst afternoon newspaper in the city, was unique in modern New York newspaper history.

The News' own plant was closed down Thursday by a strike of editorial and commercial employees who belong to the American Newspaper Guild. It was the first Guild strike in New York since 1955.

The News, largest circulation newspaper in the country with a daily sale of nearly 2 million, was chosen by the Guild as its first target in a wage dispute with all seven major Manhattan dailies. Other publishers immediately offered facilities to the News.

The News said its strike edition had been prepared at its own office on 42nd st. at 2nd ave. by several hundred editorial department heads and nonguild members.

The copy was then taken to the Journal-American plant on South street near the southern tip of Manhattan. It did not pass through the Journal's city room—where many employees are represented by the Guild—but was sent directly to the afternoon paper's composing room.

Members of eight mechanical unions and the Newspaper and Mail Deliverers Union made no attempt to stop the shift in publications.

The New York unit of the Guild, an AFL-CIO union of editorial and commercial newspaper employees had announced before the strike that any settlement reached with the News would be applied to the other six dailies, and if they refused the terms they would be struck one at a time.

The Guild, which has thrown up picket lines around the News building in Manhattan and its plant in Brooklyn, was angered by the maneuver of printing the news at the Journal-American and called it "a mockery of the use of the mediation service of the Guild and everybody else in letting the public think that they (the News management) were interested in settling the strike."

But the Guild made no move to interfere with the operation, nor did any of the craft unions.

Yemen Mases Forces for a Showdown

By FAROUK NASSAR

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Revolutionary Yemen massed land and air forces against Saudi Arabia today. The Egypt-backed republican government talked grimly of a showdown with its monarchist neighbor.

Saudi radio in Yemen's remote capital quoted leaders of the 36-day-old revolutionary regime in stormy challenges to Saudi Arabian King Saud and Jordanian King Hussein, warning the former of imminent attack if royalist military forays from across the Arabian border continue.

Yemen Vice Premier and Foreign Minister Abdul Rahman al-Baydany charged that 5,000 Arabian and Jordanian troops had tried to invade Yemen in the last two days. His regime was acting now only in self defense, he said.

Saudi and Hussein have championed the cause of the deposed Yemeni king, Imam Mohammed al-Badr, providing him with military support in his campaign to topple the revolutionary regime. The royalists claim victories in northern Yemen.

Baydany said the government armies had started marching to the north and the navy was sailing northward in the Red Sea from the modern port of Hodeida. The Yemeni air force—believed including Soviet-built fighters provided by the United Arab Republic—was ready, Baydany said, to set up a "flaming gair belt" along the frontier.

Revolutionary Prime Minister Abdullah Salal, leader of the September coup d'etat against the king, said his armed forces were ready "to teach the aggressors an unforgettable lesson." His statements were relayed by Cairo radio.

The military buildup brought the danger of a large-scale confrontation in battle between the two great antagonistic forces in the Arab world, the monarchists led by Saud and Hussein, and the republicans who look to Egypt's President Nasser for guidance and material support.

Nasser has reportedly supplied as many as 1,000 men, plus arms, air and naval units to bolster Salal's regime. Salal, for his part, has stated publicly his desire eventually to merge with Egypt in an expanded United Arab Republic.

Crisis Took Edge Off of Campaigns

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Cuban crisis took the edge off this year's election campaigns but provided enough material for political hickering to last after Election Day.

The Republicans, who had been urging President Kennedy to "do something" before he cracked down on the Russian missile bases in Cuba, are now asking: Why didn't he do something sooner?

This was the main point made Tuesday night by Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa. But Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., said the Republicans, now "shorn of the Cuban issue, seem to be saying: Yes, but you should have taken us into a nuclear war."

This, however, doesn't answer Scott's argument that Republicans had information the Russians were building Cuban missile bases long before Kennedy said he knew about it, although, Scott said, the same information was available to the Kennedy administration.

Here is a timetable:
Aug. 24—The State Department said Communist ships were arriving in Cuba with technicians and military weapons which appeared to be only of the defensive kind.

Sept. 2—Russia announced it was sending Cuba economic help and armaments with technical specialists to train Cuban service men.

Sept. 4—Kennedy said he had no evidence the weapons were offensive but added: "Were it otherwise (Castro) will be prevented by whatever means necessary from taking action against any part of the Western Hemisphere."

Sept. 7—Under steady Republican pressure to "do something," Kennedy asked Congress, and subsequently got approval for taking any steps he thought were necessary in handling the Cuban situation. This included the use of force.

Sept. 8—Sen. Kenneth Keating, R-N.Y., said he thought it might be necessary to start a blockade to stop and search Cuba-bound ships for war materials. This was the step Kennedy took a month and a half later.

Sept. 11—The Russian government warned the United States that, if it attacked Cuba, this would be the "beginning of the unleashing of war."

Sept. 13—At his news conference Kennedy said the arms shipments to Cuba did not constitute a serious threat to any other part of this hemisphere but that this "country will do whatever must be done to protect its own security and that of its allies."

Also on this date, according to Scott, Secretary of State Dean Rusk told the Senate Armed Services Committee a Soviet arms buildup was going on in Cuba.

Scott said "I think the only conclusion can be that the President himself may not have received this information."

Sept. 14—One day after Kennedy said the Soviet weapons in Cuba were defensive—according to a Chicago Daily News Service story of Oct. 25—congressional leaders were called to the White House and given their first briefing on reports that the Russians were installing long-range ballistic missiles in Cuba. But, the News said, the evidence was regarded as inconclusive.

Scott said Tuesday night the Republicans in mid-September had "very hard information" that the Russians were building Cuban missile bases. He said the same information was available to the Kennedy administration.

He also said: "Those missile bases were there a long, long time before the President spoke" (in his nationwide broadcast of Oct. 22).

Oct. 10—Keating said the Russians were building six intermediate range missile sites. He denied administration statements the buildup was defensive.

Oct. 13—Campaigning in Indianapolis, Kennedy jabbed at "those self-appointed generals and admirals who want to send someone else's son to war." He said "This is no time for rash and irresponsible talk—no time for confused and intemperate remarks on the part of those who have neither the facts nor the responsibility to determine this nation's course." Although he did not name him, Kennedy's jab appeared intended for Sen. Homer E. Capehart, R-Ind., who for several months had been calling for an invasion of Cuba.

Oct. 1—On this date (Kennedy said in his broadcast of Oct. 22) the President "received the first preliminary hard information" that missile sites were being built in Cuba. He said he ordered stepped-up surveillance.

This was a month after, Scott said, the Republicans had "very hard information" about the missile sites.

Oct. 18—As a result of the increased surveillance, the President indicated, he had even more information about the missiles before he talked that evening to Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

Kennedy told the nation (in the Oct. 22 broadcast) that in this meeting with Gromyko the Russians said the weapons to Cuba were defensive. Kennedy said this was a false statement by Gromyko. But he has not yet personally explained why, in his conversation with Gromyko, he didn't call the Russian's hand on the falsehood.

Oct. 22—Kennedy in his broadcast announced that the Russians were building Cuban missile sites and ordered a quarantine on offensive arms shipments to Cuba. A man who participated in all the decision-making conferences says "only four or five days" elapsed between evidence of the first bulldozer scars and the rise of installations that serve a missile site. "They couldn't have been detected earlier," he says.

Kennedy said in his statement of Oct. 22 "Within the past week, unmistakable evidence has established the fact that a series of offensive missile sites is now in preparation."

"He (Kennedy) was confronted with a set of new facts that required a new decision," an administration officer says.

Thursday, Oct. 18, is a critical point in the story.

On that day, after some 72 hours of intensive conferences, more new reconnaissance evidence from Cuba, and continual briefings on it, the President was very close to making his decision—an arms blockade on Cuba. The die was not yet cast, but Kennedy was close to it.

And on that same day, he met in the White House with the Soviet Foreign Minister, Andrei A. Gromyko. Most of their conversation was about Berlin. Then Kenedy came around to Cuba.

He suddenly rose from his rocking chair, walked out of his office, and returned with copies of his statements in September on Cuba. He read them to Gromyko.

On Sept. 13, he had said: "But let me make this clear once again. If at any time the Communist buildup in Cuba were to endanger or interfere with our security in any way or become an offensive military base of significant capacity for the Soviet Union, then this country will do whatever must be done to protect its own security and that of its allies."

Gromyko repeated the assurances that Soviet actions in Cuba were solely for "the purpose of contributing to the defense capabilities of Cuba."

Meanwhile, the conferences designed to hammer out a course of action were going on, full blast.

There were various military alternatives; a sudden air strike, invasion, a blockade. Each had its proponents. The arguments were hot and heavy. The President did not participate in them.

Gradually, the consensus seemed to be veering toward the blockade as the best course.

Those in the conferences recognized, however, that the blockade would only stop the inflow of weapons. It would not by itself dismantle the missile sites.

Top officials of the White House and the Departments of Defense, State and Justice participated in the conferences. Later, two experts on Communist operations were called in. They were Charles E. (Chip) Bohlen and Llewellyn E. Thompson. Both have served as ambassadors to Moscow and have long experience in Soviet affairs.

Their advice was sought on two questions: "What are the Russians up to in Cuba? What will they do if . . ."

Kennedy came into the talks only when the conferees had reached virtual agreement on some specific points. He did not sit in on the long discussions. He seldom commented. Mostly he asked questions—"I want to know how many days this would take," or who's handling that?"

Often, he directed further study of a point.

By Saturday, Oct. 20, he was able to say: "All right, we'll go with the blockade. But I want to have another talk in the morning."

Next: Military buildup and the veil of secrecy.

Art Is Not Teaching Coloring

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—What is art?

Well, it's definitely not teaching a child to color a picture and stay within the lines, a professor of art at Arkansas Polytechnic College declared Thursday.

Art, said Mrs. Helen Terry Marshall, is an education in understanding human values, a fostering of individual thinking in an age of conformity. It is an experience in democratic living, learning to use the freedom of choice, the forerunner of the ability to use the imagination and to make valid judgments. It is training to help children adjust to the differences of the future, she said.

And a state art program in Arkansas Mrs. Marshall told the Art Section of the Arkansas Education Association, is non-existent.

The state ranks at the bottom of the heap, even lower than Mississippi, in its public school art education program, she said. All of this at a time when ranking educators with no direct interest in art education are advo-

Let The People Be Heard!

By HELEN WARDN ERSKIN

Dear Helen: When we take a good look at our university adolescence it becomes more and more apparent that our greatest need is "mature" women who will help children and men to grow up.

If we admit that men are by nature polygamous while women remain monogamous, we are saying in substance that, on the whole, women are better integrated and fitted for leadership than men; not in science or industry, but in the real philosophy of life.

The world wouldn't be in the confused state it is today if we had one-mindedness and maturity in men as well as women.

Women need to stand up and fight for right. The battleground should be our own hearthside. We can overcome the enemy not with a sword but with love, in defense of the ideal closest to our heart—a united family.

May the Holy Spirit guide you and yours in wisdom and knowledge of Truth. You have been given a very grave responsibility in this struggle to preserve life and love. God bless you! —L. G.

Dear L. G.: I appreciate your fine letter and tribute but let's face it; men are no better than the mothers who have borne them. The women of today need to do a lot of soul-searching. We have the vote, control 70 per cent of the wealth of a country and as a consequence possess tremendous power. Conditions nationally and local, including increasing irresponsibility on the part of our young people, indicate that we are not putting this power to constructive use.

It isn't as simple as you would make it seem. Women still have a long way to go. However, I do think we would do better in public office than men. At least we're honest.

Dear Helen: A troublemaker is trying to break up me and my boy friend. He told me last night that somebody had been passing along remarks I made about him but refused to say whom I'm not one to make derogatory remarks about others, least of all those I care for. Should I try to find out who this busybody is? —Confused

Dear Confused: Don't make a mountain out of a molehill. Let the matter drop, unless your boy friend continues to take the busybody seriously. In that case, have a heart-to-heart talk with him and, if he still believes the troublemaker, drop him.

ing more and more art as a balance to the emphasis on science and mathematics.

Mrs. Marshall urged the teachers to return to their districts and "see that our children and young people get the same advantages in art education that they would get in any other state. Let's make art the fourth R," she said.

Man's Hidden Dreams Are Cherished

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—As long as a man breathes he cherishes some hidden dreams of glory.

When young he usually daydreams about unlikely things—such as finding a million dollars in the street, becoming a baseball idol, or having a famous movie star fall in love with him.

Some of these unattainable goals gleam hidden in his secret heart as long as he lives, although he comes to realize how childish they are. But ordinarily as a man advances his way through middle age, most of his daydreams become almost wishfully practical rather than extravagant.

Here is one middle-aged man's catalog of unachieved ambitions: To climb to the top of the Statue of Liberty.

Find a reasonably-priced hair tonic that really would make a fellow irresistible to the ladies.

Be able to tie his shoelaces in the morning without breathing hard.

Listen to two symphonies, and then be able to tell one from the other.

Win at least one argument sometime in his life with a traffic cop, a bus driver and his boss. Find a necktie that can't be stained—even if you dip it in a gravy bowl.

Learn to identify on sight all the flowers, trees and birds a fellow meets during a woodland walk.

Read the novel "War and Peace" all the way through.

Visit a nudist colony—purely on a scientific research basis, of course.

Be able to help a teen-age daughter with her home work in algebra.

Invent a tasty new food that would automatically convert fat into muscle.

Create a substance that would melt all paper clips and carbon paper in a thousand-mile radius, thus making it impossible to make unnecessary copies of unnecessary business correspondence.

Find a doctor who could tell a man how, without taking pills, capsules or potions, he could wake up every morning feeling as good as he did in 1937.

Get a law passed making it illegal for any high school or college youth to appear in public with a duck-tailed haircut and wearing trousers so tight they look like they were glued to him.

Get another law passed making it a felony for any American girl or woman to wear mascara during daylight hours—or purple lipstick at any time.

Find some kind of a new, interesting pleasure for middle-aged people that wouldn't leave them feeling tired or guilty—or cause them to put on weight.

Give white sauce a delicate flavor boost by scalding the milk with a slice of onion—or celery stalk added; remove onion or celery before adding the milk to the butter and flour mixture.

Use unsalted or lightly salted crackers as go-alongs when serving roquefort cheese, plain or in spreads.

Adenauer's Visit
Is Postponed

WASHINGTON (AP)—The
White House announced today that German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's visit to Washington has been postponed for a week, from
Nov. 7 to Nov. 14.

Assistant White House press secretary Andrew T. Hatcher said only that the postponement resulted from a mutual agreement.

"Each felt the talks would be more useful if put off for another week," Hatcher said.

When to Fish or Hunt

Solunar Tables

By John Alden Knight

The schedule of Solunar period as printed below, has been taken from John Alden Knight's Solunar Tables. Plan your days so that you will be fishing in good territory or hunting in good cover during these times. If you wish to find the best sport that each day has to offer.

The Major periods are shown in bold face type. These begin at the time shown and last for an hour and a half or two hours there after. The minor periods, shown in regular type, are of somewhat shorter duration.

Injuries Fatal to Camden Woman

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Billie Jean Dickinson, 26, of Camden, died today in a Little Rock hospital from injuries received Wednesday in an automobile accident six miles south of Camden on U.S. Highway 79.

She was taken to Little Rock Thursday for surgery but lived only a few hours after the operation.

Bobcats Beat Logansport by 40-7 Score

By VINCE FOSTER

The Logansport Tigers proved no match at all for the big Hope Bobcats as the locals battered them 40-7 before a sparse crowd at Hammond Stadium last night.

Plenty of experience was gained by the younger Bobcats, since they saw most of the action in this non-conference victory.

Early in the first quarter Logansport punted to the Hope 48, after which Gary Mayfield carried 12 yards to their 40. On the next play Mayfield hit HB Jackie Russell with a pass at the 15 and Russell scampered on in untouched. A high pass from center spoiled the point after, but the Cats had started their scoring.

6-0. After the kickoff, the Cats backed Logansport to their 10, and after a fumble on fourth down the Bobcats took over on the Tigers three. Mayfield promptly pushed over for Hope's second score. Porterfield added the PAT.

The Cats started their next drive on the Hope 10, and 18 plays later, Russell scored his second TD of the night from the 7. Way's attempted conversion was wide. Then late in that period Maurice Sullivan's 62 yard run to paydirt was called back on a clipping penalty. However, McLarty then passed to Thrash at the Tiger 40 and Larry picked his way the remaining yardage for the fourth Hope score. Porterfield converted to put Hope out front 26-0 at the half.

The Tigers came back stronger after the half, and Phillips 15 yard scoring run climaxed a 53 yard drive to put Logansport on the scoreboard. Register added the PAT. After two exchanges of fumbles at the 50, the Cats drove to the 39, where Mayfield hit Jerry Burnett all by himself on the 15. Burnett's score and Porterfield's extra point made it 33-7.

With the sophomores taking over on Bobcat offense, Hope's final score came by the way of Buddy Jordan's 43 yard scamper and again Porterfield converted.

Russell was the leading rusher for the Cats with 69 yards, followed by Sullivan with 50. Jordan had 46, Burnett 22, Wassell 21, Mayfield 14, and Waller 3. Phillips led the Tigers with 65.

Next week the Bobcats, who have a 6-2-1 record, travel to Haynesville, La. for what may be a really tough game. Haynesville has beaten the 4AA district leader, Fairview, and should give the Bobcats all the action they will want.

Fight Dangers to Education Supt. Says

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Maryland state superintendent of schools told Arkansas classroom teachers today that they must look within their own ranks for weapons to combat nationwide dangers to education.

The superintendent, Thomas G. Pullen Jr., said the dangers are the struggle for political control of the schools, and a theory of political science that advocates the all-powerful elected official.

Pullen spoke to a general meeting of the Arkansas Education Association, meeting here this weekend.

He called on teachers to turn aside the threats to education by crying out in protest and present public education to the public.

"The American public must be sold on the idea that public education is a preserver of our freedom and liberties," Pullen said.

Joshua K. Shepherd of Little Rock, chairman of the Arkansas Committee for the Public Schools, told teachers attending the AEA convention Thursday night that they could push Act 1 through if they go home and work.

"The act would guarantee 50 per cent of state revenues for public schools. It will be on the ballot Tuesday.

The Department of Higher Education of the AEA Meeting in Little Rock today, passed 76-4 a resolution opposing Act 1.

A. J. Crabbaugh, dean of Arkansas Tech, who introduced the resolution, said it "bypassed normal processes of representative democratic government by setting a fixed percentage without consideration of possible changing conditions for the needs of other essential services of the state."

Shepherd told the AEA the school forces never have had a better case for school legislation, and he said the act would remove

How far can you see? When you look, what do you see? Vision means more than just to see something with the eye. Actually, the deeper meaning of vision would be to perceive what is not seeable to the eye... a mental view or image. True, the eyes deliver 87% of all impressions to the brain. But vision means seeing further than one can see with the eye.

We know 20-20 vision of soul has deeper meaning than 20-20 vision of the eye.

Do you have vision? Have you seen God lately? Have you visioned His church on the corner and all it stands for? When you read His Word can you anticipate all the glories of His second coming? May we develop 20-20 vision of sight, of mind, and of soul.

May we have true vision.

So They May See == Psalm 5 == So They May Hear

GIVE EAR TO MY WORDS, O Lord, consider my meditation.

2. Harken unto the voice of my cry, my King, and my God: for unto thee will I pray.

3. My voice shalt thou hear in the morning, O Lord; in the morning will I direct my prayer unto thee, and will look up.

4. For thou art not a God that hath pleasure in wickedness: neither shall evil dwell with thee.

5. The foolish shall not stand in thy sight; thou hatest all workers of iniquity.

6. Thou shalt destroy them that speak leasing: the Lord will abhor the bloody and deceitful man.

7. But as for me, I will come into thy house in the multitude of thy mercy: and in thy fear will I worship toward thy holy temple.

LEAD ME, O LORD, in thy righteousness because of mine enemies; make thy way straight before my face.

9. For there is no faithfulness in their mouth; their inward part is very wickedness; their throat is an open sepulchre; they flatter with their tongue.

10. Destroy thou them, O God; let them fall by their own counsels; cast them out in the multitude of their transgressions; for they have rebelled against thee.

11. But let all those that put their trust in thee rejoice: let them ever shout for joy, because thou defendest them: let them also that love thy name be joyful in thee.

12. For thou, Lord, wilt bless the righteous; with favour wilt thou compass him as with a shield.
